Hong Kong Institute of Civil and Building Information Management (HKICBIM)

Message by Sr Wong Kin, Michael

President of the HKICBIM

Today, as we celebrate this successful HKICBIM Award 2025, we also celebrate the remarkable journey and growth of the Hong Kong Institute of Civil and Building Information Management (HKICBIM). The HKICBIM provides an informative platform for civil and building counterparts to network and exchange civil Building Information Modelling (BIM) knowledge. The HKICBIM aims to foster technological innovation and accelerate the adoption of Civil and Building Information Modelling Management in the architecture, engineering, construction and operation industry.

This award, successfully hosted by our institute, reflects our growing capability to organise and execute events of significant magnitude. The seamless coordination, professional management, and high standards maintained throughout the event showcase the maturity of our organisational capabilities.

As we move forward, let us continue to build on this momentum. With your continued support and dedication, we look forward to achieving even greater heights.

Congratulations once again on this successful endeavour, and thank you for our Guest of Honour, Ar Prof Ada Fung's opening speech and Ir Francis Leung's sharing on openBIM, and all the HKICBIM Award 2025 Organising Committee members who contributed to this HKICBIM Award 2025 a success.

Message by Sr Keung Shun Lok

Chairman of the HKICBIM Award 2025 Organising Committee

Today marks a significant milestone to the HKICBIM, the 1st BIM Award for Civil Engineering projects as we celebrate excellence, dedication, and outstanding achievement. To all who participated in this HKICBIM Award 2025, you have demonstrated remarkable talent and perseverance. To our BIM Motivator, BIM Practitioner, BIM Talent, BIM Project and Innovation System winners, your exceptional performance has set you apart and earned you well-deserved recognition.

Your journey to this moment has undoubtedly been filled with full preparation, moments of uncertainty, and challenges that tested your resolving capability. You transformed obstacles into opportunities and pushed beyond your perceived limitations. This achievement is not merely about winning; it is a testament to your commitment to excellence and your unwavering determination to succeed.

Looking ahead, we hope this achievement serves as a springboard for your future endeavours. Let this success fuel your ambition and inspire you to set even higher goals. The skills developed, the lessons learned, and the confidence gained will serve you well in your future pursuits.

Finally, thank you to our dedicated the HKICBIM Award 2025 Organising Committee members' extraordinary efforts in making this Award a resounding success. Their meticulous planning, attention to detail and behind-the-scene work created an exceptional experience for all participants.
